MUST NOT TAKE A BACKWARD STEP

It is not serious thought by city men generally that we will take the backward step which would result from abolition of the Chamber of Commerce.

Such a situation has developed however when the fate of this organization will have to be decided—whether to reorganize and revitalize it or distribute the funds in the transury and quit existence.

This question will be determined at the public meeting to be held in the Kiwanis Club room on Wednesday evening. This meeting is of so much importance as involving the future prosperity of Connellsville, our representation as a wide awake and progressive community, and our pride in human institutions that attendance will be of the public spirit.

If we fail to attend this meeting it will show to the officers and members of the chamber that we do not care whether the body is given new life or a hasty interment.

The absence of citizens who ought to be genuinely interested in the continued existence of our agency and instrumentality by which the town can be kept on the map of progress, will mean that it is their lesser the less active chamber be-allowed to join the life of the city.

There is, however, a very distinct difference between the present and earlier chambers in Connellsville. The existing body is not "dead broke"
as was the lamentable condition of earlier bodies preceding their final dissolution. A very large sum of money is in the treasury and up wards of 500 individuals and corporations are on its roster as members.

The creeping paralysis of which it suffers is an ailment of the membership. They cannot be induced to take sufficient interest to attend meetings. The body has not been able to function as a going concern because no more than two or three officers and directors can be persuaded to answer a call for a meeting.

Plainly no organization can long exist under such conditions. What to do under the circumstances is for the membership and citizens as a whole to determine. If they are really interested in our city they will give proof of it by being present at the meeting on Wednesday evening and taking step with those persons who are firmly of the opinion that we cannot afford to go backward in any matter or thing having to do with the progress of our institutions and the material welfare of our community.

MEMORIAL DAY

The Community Memorial Service
in the High School Auditorium Sunday night was as pronounced as any
in all its features, its impressiveness and appropriateness, and attendance by the people of all religious
affiliations that it will be the memory
of those who were present and of
others who were prevented by illness
or other cause from attending that this service shall become as much a

Day. As much as will in every way be a fitting prelude to the day when comrades and friends journey to the
resting places of the soldier dead
and strew them with flowers as proof
that they are held in reverent memory.

With this service in prepare our minds and hearts for the usual observation of a beautiful custom we ought to approach Memorial Day this year with a keener appreciation of the opportunities to pay tribute to both the soldier and civilian dead upon this occasion and with a more appreciative sense of our duties and obligations to the living.

We are citizens of one common country and community. The interests of one should be so much the concern of all that the spirit of cooperation should characterize our attitude and relations upon all matters of vital importance to our mutual well-being. The success of the Community Memorial Service has shown us how great are the possibilities in
this direction when we join wholeheartedly as good neighbors and sympathetic friends in a more every-
worthy and deserving.

The fine records made by Connellsville's athletes at the Dawson field meet and under most discouraging conditions ought to be an example to the members of the Chamber of Commerce who feel disposed to withdraw the entry of this organization
from the race for a bigger Connellsville.

Why not defer the election of a Democratic county chairman altogether?
He will have nothing to do when elected.

in all its features, its impressive-

ance by the people of all religious
affiliations that it will be the memory
of those who were present and of
others who were prevented by illness

this service shall become as much a

Day. As much as will in every way be
a fitting prelude to the day when
comrades and friends journey to the
resting places of the soldier dead
and strew them with flowers as proof

us how great are the possibilities in
this direction when we join whole-

sympathetic friends in a more every-
worthy and deserving.

Coker High School Boys Rank Second in County Scholastic Field Meet

Are Victors on the Track but Are Outdistanced in the Field.

RELAY TEAM STANDS OUT

The second annual track and field meet of the Fayette County Interscholastic Athletic Association was run off at the Dawson Fair Grounds Saturday on a track saturated with a heavy rain that fell an hour before the events opened.

The Connellsville High School was second place in the meet, losing out to Uniontown in the field events by taking first honors on the track. The rise of the Cokers, however, from the insignificant place held last spring to second in the meet is considered little short of remarkable. It is quite a tribute to the work of Coach J. E. Lerew, himself a track man.

Connellsville's boys today are as happy as if they had won the entire meet. Those athletes who were defeated are glorying in the triumph won by their followers and next year will see the Orange and Black standard carried into the top position. No one off the track or field is lost to Connellsville by graduation with the exception of "Dixie" Rausack. That youth's absence will be felt for two reasons. He is a valuable member of the relay team and then also he is a boy who has always worked for the best interests of his school. He stood the grind of a grueling football season, suffering a shoulder injury several times and then reported to Coach Lerew for track. His first season is such sport.

Uniontown won the meet, taking 65 points to 49½ for Connellsville. South Brownsville was third with 20.

Connellsville carried off track honors, however, taking 25 points in those events to 29 for Uniontown. The only positions won on field were first in the high jump by Hillard and a tie for fourth in the broad jump by Doss with Cazzell.

"Dixie" Hillard was awarded a hand-me-down cup as a result of his tie with another athlete for the high-jump individual score. He made nine points for Connellsville, defeating Albright in the high jump and running in second position in the 20-yard high hurdles. "Dixie" didn't do so well in the pole vault, though he was the last to leave Color to go down. He strained his side in one attempt to make a height, and this walked him. He got fourth position, however.

Leopold Shuler won the 100-yard dash, and "Dixie" Rausack added another point to the score by taking fourth place. The running events were hard on the boys because of the track. Mud was inches thick and it made footing very treacherous.

The 100-yard dash, the fifth track event, was beautiful to watch from a Connellsville standpoint. The Cokers finished first, second and third in the, Captain's Carte, 1000 and 1000 crossing in the order named. Patterson of Uniontown was fourth.

In the 800-yard relay, South Brownsville finished first, May of Connellsville second, Links of Connellsville third and McKinnon of Uniontown fourth.

Until the 120-yard high hurdles was run off on the track Uniontown's entries had not been heard from. In that event Lee captured first, Hillard of Connellsville second, and Coker of Uniontown third. There was no fourth finisher.

In the 1000-yard relay, Tripp led the field the greater part of the way. He weakened on the stretch, however, but finished fourth.

The relay race was the real event. There is something about such a race that takes the interest of every spectator. Word had gone around that Connellsville expected to do big things in that race and there was no disappointment in the rumor. The Cokers finished over 50 yards ahead of Uniontown's runner, who took second.

Shuler started off and established a big margin of lead at the quarter-mile. Rausack took off there and he widened the breach. "Jocko" May made the most of this advantage and Coker had nearly a 10-yard advantage when he started on the home lap. He had nearly all the way, taking a snappy sprint at the close to demonstrate his power if necessary to call on them.

Rankin of Uniontown made a beautiful run in the finish of the race. He was sent off to a bad start, slipping in the mud but his spite of that finished second. South Brownsville was third and Redstone Township fourth. The Connellsville relay team is one that will come up with any high school.

Johnny Rose had a bad day. Controlled the winner of the 100-yard dash because of his performance in the recent last season he failed to get a record. Started off in the lead for four laps at 15 feet, six inches. He was entered in the 200-yard low hurdles. Johnny was literally in "wing" down the track, leading the race when he fell in the pool and was unable to get up.

In the 1000-yard relay, the Cokers were unable to do anything. The pole vault held promise until the end. It was the last event to finish and many spectators had left before the winners had been determined.

Golf Unable to Cut

Diamond Attendance
The nation that golf has become so popular that it has affected the interest in professional sport is hardly shown by the facts.

Just because a man plays golf, that does not necessarily mean that he loses interest in baseball and boxing. The attendance figures of baseball and boxing for the past two seasons have been greater than ever before, and yet golf has attracted recruits by the thousand.

Professional sport in the larger centers of population have not been touched by the golf epidemic. Week-end patronage in New York, Chicago, and other big baseball cities has not been affected by other games, but minor league baseball has suffered. Many of the minor league club owners last year were alarmed because even the holders of complimentary passes failed to attend the week-end games because they were busy playing golf.

Dudley Lee, nineteen-year-old Boston American shortstop, for whom Lee paid $10,000 to Tulsa, Okla., is making the Boston fans realize that he is worth the full price. He is shown receiving the congratulations of Dan Johnson, president of the American league. Young Lee is the player who is causing Boston fans to forget the loss of the nimble Mr. Everett Scott, now of the Yanks.

Women Play Lacrosse

Above is pictured a bit of action during the recent lacrosse match played between the two ladies' teams from England and Scotland. The English women proved entirely too strong for the Scotch ladies and triumphed by a score of 20 to 1. One of the Scotch players is shown making a fine catch while her opponents dash down the field.

The Paramount

"FLESH AND BLOOD" showing today and tomorrow at the Paramount presents Lon Chaney, in the stellar role.

It is an out-of-the-ordinary story. It joins the heart and thrills the system. And certainly it is different in its portrayal. Lon Chaney sees to that. A story of a man who lost the world and regained it by forgiving his enemy. He realized that he could not stand in the way of his daughter's happiness. Hence he returned to the prison, grateful that he had looked upon her fair beauty and found her smiling with love. "Truth revealed itself to him in a startling manner. It is this truth so visualized as to make this picture a real achievement in the annals of screen production. It is melodrama; it is even more, for it comes mighty close to human nature. You see the cross-currents of life flowing in different directions and moving over the ways of the heart. It touches that life is worth while, even though shut in by prison walls.

The picture is acted by an all-star cast. There is Edith Roberts, who plays the daughter with that understanding; Noah Beery in a rendition of a cameo portrayal; Jack Mathai as the youthful lover and Ralph Lewis as the powerful enemy who finds his conscience.

The Soisson

"RUPERT OF HENTZAU," a photoplay sensation of the year, opened today at the Soisson for a three day engagement.

The story in itself is a thrill a minute, and in the screen adaption the imagination does not have to be strained at any time as the wonderful portrayal of the principals coupled with the faultless direction of Victor Heerman, leaves nothing to be desired from a thrill standpoint. It is absolutely guaranteed to keep even the most blasé on the edge of their seats through every foot of the film.

The most wonderful cast ever assembled for any single production were given the principal roles. The public have become so fed-up on these so-called all-star casts that they could hardly be blamed for being skeptical every time they heard the word used, but a very pleasant surprise awaits them in Rupert of Hentzau, as each of the principals have actually been starred in numerous productions. Included in this galaxy of stars are: Elmo, while Harry Aurora's orchestra fur-which is at the base of all good men.

"I don't see why we shouldn't," said Kilmenny from the saddle, and at the same time Colter stepped into the arena. He drew Jack aside and whispered in his ear. India, watching the roughrider through field glasses, saw the face of the young man grow grim and hard. Without the delay of a moment he pushed through the crowd that gathered to congratulate him and walked out of the grounds with Colter.

The other two riders who had reached the finish were both experts.

In the lead was one of them, however, who had been traveling with a Wild West show and was too soft to hold his own against the bit of incorporate devilry he was met with. To save himself he had to clutch at the horn of the saddle.

"It's pulling leather," shouted one of the judges, and the man was warned aside.

The third cowpuncher made a good showing, but his horse lacked the energy and spirit of Teddy Roosevelt.

The unanimous decision of the judges was in favor of Kilmenny. But when they sought for him to award the prize the new champion was nowhere to be found.

"How long since they passed?"

"Between a quarter and half an hour," answered Kilmenny.

"The sheriff mumbled, "All ready, boys."

The clattering hoofs disappeared in a cloud of dust down the road.

The rough places of life had been padding for all these young women. Never before had they come so close to its raw, ugly scars. The shadow of the law, the succulence of crime, had always guarded them.

India turned over her brother big-eyed eyes. "Is said Kilmenny. Who can the man be?"

"I don't know." He was silent a moment in frowning thought, struck by an anomalous idea. "You remember Uncle Archie. He had a son named Jack who lives somewhere in Colorado. Do you remember him when you were a little biddy? Stopped at grandpa's. Thought I had seen his face before. He's our cousin Jack. That's him he is."

"And now here a highwayman. By Jove, he doesn't look it!" contributed Farquhar.

"I don't believe it." Such nonsense!"

"I think he's a mile-a-minute Moys." Lord Farquhar suggested.

"There must be a mistake."

"He was troubled about something Moys." Lord Farquhar suggested.

"He and his friend were riding fast and plainly in a hurry."

"He had to stop to talk?"

"He had to do that to avoid suspicion. I could see his mind was on what he was saying. The man was anxious."

"I thought you liked him." Moys charged scuriously.

"Her guardian mumbled. "I did, but that isn't evidence. I will accuse him in court of being a road agent."

"He's a criminal?" Lord Farquhar asked.

"He could be a criminal. Shall we have to eat her and Captain Kilmenny now?" Moys Wright demanded hotly.

The captain laughed, but there was a stanch friend, Miss Dwight. "You're a stanch friend, Miss Dwight. By Jove, I hope you're right about him."

TO BE CONTINUED.

The Bucks of the Pony Were Easy to Forests.

Moya Dwight felt with genuine disappointment that the man's journey had failed. She and her friends had applauded his exploit liberally.

The least he could do was to ride inside the box. Instead, he had turned them, Moys, to bound herself more closely together.

"It's all in getting the hand of the thing you know," drawled Verinder complacently.

Moya who was leaning forward with her dark eyes fixed on the two important animals fighting for mastery in the arena, thought both combatants characteristic. The captain was a sportsman and a gentleman, the millionaire was a brash, impulsive, impudent scoundrel.

India whispered in the ear of Moya. "He's an overbearing as a crab, just about."

The reference was of course to Verinder. "I think we ought to be fair, even to a crab, dear." Miss Dwight answered dryly.

The battle between the outlaw broncho and its rider was over. The confidence of Teddy Roosevelt as well as its strength had been shaken.

The hulks of the pony were easy to forest.

Presently they ceased. The horse stood with drooping head, foam dripping from its mouth, jinks necked with sweat stains.

It was perhaps a quarter of an hour later that the sound of hard riding reached them from the rear. Five dusty, hard-bitten men, all armed with rifles and revolvers, drew level with

Five Hundred Persons March
Over Principal Streets of Scottdale.

POLICE CHIEF SPEAKS

Special to The Courier.
SCOTTDALE, May 25.—The Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday closed the celebration of the 50th anniversary of its founding.

At the morning service Rev. Dr. W. S. Lockard, superintendent of the Pittsburgh District spoke. Rev. Lockard is a former Scottdale man, a brother of George Lockard of this place, and of Mr. Webster and Miss Lockard.

Ralph Sherrick sang a solo. There was music by a quartet composed of Mr. Barkell, Mr. Sherrick, Mr. Wade and Mr. Ford.

At the afternoon meeting, which was known as the Sunday school and church rally service, the attendance was perhaps the largest of the meetings. Rev. C. S. Baggett led in prayer. Rev. J. E. Hutchinson, the oldest pastor in point of service in Scottdale, brought greetings from his church. As part of the service a photograph of the late E. A. Humphries was presented by Keith Loucks, a grandson of Mr. Humphries and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Loucks. Mr. Humphries was for many years Sunday school superintendent. The picture was presented by the family. Dr. James P. Stridder gave a talk on Mr. Humphries' service. Rev. Baggett brought greetings from the mother church, Jacobs Creek, organized in 1816. Mr. Humphries was introduced. Dr. Lockard told of his boyhood days in Scottdale, carrying people back to 40 years ago. Dr. Bennett W. Hutchinson of Connellsville spoke. Miss Virginia Clingerman and Kenneth Wade sang a duet.

At the close of the service, there was a parade, with about 400 persons in line, headed by Robert Barkell's Military Band. Chief of Police Frank Gano carried the colors, and at the close of the parade, gave a talk. The parade formed at the church and moved out Loucks Avenue, to Grove Street, to Market street, to Broadway, to Pittsburg street, to Spring street, to Arthur Avenue, to Hickory Street and back to the church. At the close of the parade Dr. A. W. Stridder, the only charter member of the church in Scottdale, who was unable to attend the meeting, was given a concert by the Military Band.

Rev. Dr. R. B. Mumford, a former pastor, spoke in the evening.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

Mrs. George W. Gordon will entertain the W. C. T. U. at her Market street home this evening.

Annual Memorial Service.

Civil War, Spanish American War, and World War veterans attended the memorial service at the Reformed Church yesterday afternoon. Elmer Morrow directed the choir. Songs sung were "Let Us Come Before His Presence," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Going Down the Valley One by One," "The Boys in Blue," and "America." Rev. E. H. Louback, the pastor, preached the sermon.

Auxiliaries in Session.

Members from Scottdale, Ligonier, Derry and Greensburg attended the meeting of the Westmoreland County Council of auxiliaries of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Youngwood on Friday evening. Mrs. Howard Miner of Scottdale presided. Sixteen were engaged in a flag drill, making and preparing to entertain.

W. C. T. U. Hutchinson, the national president, who will be with the county council some time in the near future. Lunch was served.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Margaret East has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to visit her daughter, Miss Jessie East, and her son, Charles, whose home is at Akron.

Barbaric Jewelry Is

New Fashion Favorite

It is strange that at this stage of modern life, where the freedom of woman is expressed not only in her actions but in the borrowing of the superficial aspects of men's garments, there should be, at the same time, a wave of popularity for jewelry of a barbaric nature, almost a "throw-back" to the days when women were slaves to men. Red gold appears again in jewelry, and the precious colored stones, emeralds and rubies, encrusted upon the black and white of onyx and diamonds. Bangles, girdles, hairpins as gorgeous as the jewels of an Eastern potentate, are worn by the women of this hemisphere.

And, after all, this is not so strange.

Fashion, working through the various mediums of costume, jewelry and head-dresses, balances itself and when the pendulum swings too far in one direction, it is counterbalanced by an extravagance of jewelry.

The fib, or "regence" watch, has come into its own as an accessory for the tailleur. Of onyx bordered with diamonds it is worn either in a small pendant or placed in the neck of the ladies' coat. There are also fib ornaments for the same purpose, simulating watches.

An enchanting novelty which is a development of the fib watch is the seal which winds around the neck on a long black cord or narrow jeweled chain. This is in the form of a seal with the face of the watch underneath and is turned up when the wearer desires to know the time. These costly trifles combine onyx, diamonds and rubies.

Jeweled Ornaments on Millinery and Slippers

Another instance of a way in which jewelry complements the mode is in the use of jeweled ornaments on the small, dark hat which is the fitting accompaniment of the masculine tailleur. In these, the originality of both milliner and jeweler meet happily. There are jeweled buckles and jeweled bows in diamonds. The jeweled bow, worn in front of the hat crown, is another recent innovation. This is shown in onyx and diamonds with red gold.

The slipper which completes the tailored mode is again feminized by a buckle, sometimes jeweled. A quaint conceit is the use of the initials in diamonds, either placed at the front of the shoe or slightly to the side.

Beads Popular in London

Many of the London stores have established head departments to meet the increasing demand for head necklaces, chains and other ornaments. A stone for which there has been much demand lately is the "chaledony," which is mentioned in the Book of Revelation. Others that are popular are Persian jaspers, Baltic amber, Chinese jades and imitation Indian cornelian.
